

Vision: A growing community that embodies the culture of heart.

Mission: We provide transformative True Love education for families in the Westchester, Rockland, and Orange County areas, empowering them to build healthy loving God centered families.

The year is 2027 and it is Sunday. That means it's time to head over to our community gathering at the Belvedere Family Community. My family and I hop into our brand new 2027 Tesla and we head on over. As we drive we have an excited and hopeful look on our faces. We know that we are about to go the place where we feel most loved, cared for, and free to be ourselves.

As we walk into the building immediately we see one of our good friends. "Hey! You're here! I missed you!" they say. We hug and even though it's only been a week since last Sunday there is this feeling like we are being reunited after a long break. As we walk to our seat we say hi to people, shaking hands, hugging, catching up on the week's happenings. There is some music playing in the background and I can feel a united feeling of excitement to receive God's word on this day.

We get to our seat and sit down. I take a moment to look around and admire the beautiful hall that we get to be in. Even more beautiful than the space are the many different faces that I see. Black, white, brown, asian, hispanic every shade that makes up our human family is here. It is as if the whole world came together at this place and this time to worship together.

Suddenly the music starts. We are jumping around, dancing, and singing. The energy is exciting and life giving. We feel the joy of being alive, the joy of having a voice to sing and a body to dance with. Always I say to people we have the best music ministry in the world. Our band is rockin!

Finally it's time to receive the message. Everytime I hear a message I feel the speaker is a true person of integrity. They not only speak to us but they lead us by example, through their authenticity, sincerity and love with which they speak. The sermons are always engaging, inspirational, and practical to what I'm going through in my life. I almost always leave with a sense that God spoke directly to me through the message.

As the service comes to an end we feel so filled with love, we are ready to go out and spread that love to others. First of all we do that in our amazing fellowship hall with one another. We are all in different places in our life. Some of us here are single, married, or grandparents, generally in a good place in life, but some are going through rough times. Divorce, overcoming addictions, dealing with depression, we have all kind of people in all kinds of stages in their journey. The amazing thing though is people feel free to share the truth of themselves knowing that they aren't going to be judged or criticized, but instead embraced with love and guided towards a better path.

As we get ready to leave I take a moment to just stop and be with God and take in the gratitude I am experiencing.

We have come so far over the years. There were so many trials and tribulations and even times when we thought we were done. However, we persevered together. Now we are a large and continuously growing community, filled with grandparents, parents, young families and children of all ages.

We are financially increasing year after year and with that abundance we are serving more and more people, getting involved with community initiatives in the area, as well as establishing multiple daughter communities. All this was possible because we are a community of owners, where each and every one of us found our personal calling and mission.

As I get home I can't believe it's already 7 PM! I literally spent the entire day in the community. I guess when you are in heaven you don't want to leave. As we enjoy a meal together as a family we are sharing about our experience today, what we've learned, and how we were loved and loved others. Now it's time to end the day. The kids get prepared for another school day at the Belvedere School. We say our prayers, go to bed, I kiss my beloved spouse goodnight, and peacefully fall asleep.

Unconditional Love

We strive to be people who can embody True (unconditional) love.

Honesty and Authenticity

People in our community experience a freedom to be truthful about themselves.

Unified Diversity

We honor and celebrate the diverse cultures of our families.

Family

We believe that the family is the first institution made by God as a School of Love.

A Big Mission

We believe that we have a big mission in this world. What others say is impossible we not only see is possible but we run full speed ahead towards it.
